Reading Nicaragua Solidarity Group

Dear Red Rag,

I would like to appeal to all your readers to come along to the Reading Nicaragua Solidarity Group stall on May Day (May 3rd) and join the Group. It doesn't cost much (£1 unwaged, £2 waged), and it is essential to build up as much support as possible in Europe for the Sandinistas before Loony Tune Reagan goes for his gun.

More and more people believe that Reagan plans to invade Nicaragua in 1987 (assuming that the Contras continue to suffer military defeats). Already the US Defense Department has estimated that they would need an invasion force of between 100,000 and 125,000, and that they would have to expect between 3000 and 8000 US troop deaths. That won't bother Ronbo. Already Fidel Castro is advising the Sandinistas to plan for a withdrawal to the jungles and the mountains while the Americans destroy Managua.

Even the obvious echoes of Vietnam don't seem to deter the US. It is said that every American President is either a knave or a fool (with Nixon as the arch-knave and Ford as the Arch-fool). The problem with Reagan is that he seems to be both. He is very very dangerous.

This is not the time for the sort of theoretical posturing we've seen in some of the "far left" press - criticising the Sandinistas for not nationalising the coffee plantations etc. Whatever mistakes are made coffee plantations etc. Whatever mistakes have been made in the course of the revolution, the first and only consideration at the moment has to be the defence of that revolution against the maniacs in Washington. European pressure will be vital.

Come along to May Day afternoon at RCU and start to do your bit!

Comradely greetings,

Dave.

YE OLDE RAGGE

Red Rag has been produced for nearly 6 years by an ever-changing group of people - the Red Rag Collective - and anyone can join in. The possibilities for helping produce your very own newspaper are endless, no offer of help is ever refused.

The Collective

Is everyone who helps on the Rag but in practice it's the people who go to Collective meetings held once every 6 weeks or so on a Sunday afternoon on an alternate w/e to the Rag. It should be announced in the Events Guide. The minutes of these meetings are available, if you are interested you should ask for them to be delivered with the Rag.

Articles for the Rag

12cm wide single spaced if typed (the prod. team reduce) Please state if you don't mind editorial scissor work or if you want the article to remain untouched. Articles should be signed in some way. Without a contact phone no. or address then the editorial group can't discuss changes etc. Beware! Copy deadline is usually the Thurs. before publication. P.S. There is a collective policy of no poetry.

The "Box at Acorn"

Red Rag lives in a vegetable tray at Acorn Bookshop. Articles, letters and small ads. (FREE) can be deposited here or sent by post.

M A Y D A Y M . A Y D A Y M A Y D A Y M A Y D A Y

MAY DAY is workers' day, probably the most widely celebrated Festival in the world. It is the day when all members of the working class, employed and unemployed, women and men, black and white, whatever political or non-political organisation,
can join together in unity.

We can join together and declare that we are the producers of the wealth of the world and we are working in a variety of ways to ensure that one day it will be ours.

In Reading we have developed our own special way of celebrating May Day. Under the sponsorship of Reading Trades Council a wide variety of organisations come together with a common aim.
Vegans, Communists, Christians and Ethnic minority groups (as well as straight trade unionists !) jostle each other for positions in the Festival which is the centre-piece of the day

The full programme is set out on this page.
Join in; it's our day.

Let us make it a day to remember

Ted

Stonehenge/World Cup Venue?

I'm sure that all readers of the "Rag" are well aware of how governments try to maintain popular support for their often repressive policies by trying to engender nationalistic fervour amongst people. Can it really be true therefore that CND intend to show coverage of the World Cup on one of the giant screens at the Glastonbury Festival ONLY IF ENGLAND'S FOOTBALL TEAM IS STILL IN THE WORLD CUP AT THE QUARTER FINAL STAGE?

See you at Stonehenge.
Regards,
Chris.

It's Acid Rain Week!

At last! On 19th March William Waldegrave (environment minister) conceded to the Norwegian Government that much of the damage to Norwegian lakes was caused by UK emissions.

The CEEB, however, is continuing to distribute and offer on free loan its scandalous video on Acid Rain. This film has come close to causing a diplomatic rift between Britain and Norway & Sweden. In Dec. 1985 the DOE was forced to issue a statement regretting that the video had been produced and that it contained "a selective account of the scientific arguments".

There will be various activities around the world in International Acid Rain Week (April 21-26). In some countries, the tourist boycott of the UK will be the theme for Monday. (This is due to our refusal to join with other nations and reduce emissions by 30% by 1990) FoE in London will be taking MP's and journalists to the New Forest to look at tree die back. In FoE's tree die-back survey last year, 11 sites in Berkshire were looked at. 86% of yew and beech trees showed some die-back.

In response to the publication of this survey - the first of its kind, William Waldegrave announced that the Forestry Commission and the Institute for Terrestrial Ecology would carry out a major tree survey this year.

If you have seen the CEEB video on acid rain and would like a written critique of it by FoE, please contact: Reading Friends of the Earth, 27 Instow Rd. Earley.

WILDLIFE GARDEN AT THE CENTRE FOR THE UNEMPLOYED (EAST STREET)

Now that spring is just about here, the Wildlife Garden in East Street is really taking off. A group of us meet at least once a week (Thursdays at 10 o'clock) at the Centre and go out to the garden to clear and plant and plan. Everything that we notice is listed in our 'log' - bird and insect life, plants appearing or coming into flower, stages of growth - as well as what we get up to. We're not trying to make it neat and tidy but to encourage a wider range of plants and habitats to support more wildlife. For instance, we should get a lot of butterflies there this summer.

The site isn't large, squeezed as it is between Printspot, East Street and the back of William Smith's bookshop, but there's plenty to do there. So if you're unemployed and interested in plants and wildlife do come along on Thursdays at 10 o'clock. If you can't come then, ring the Centre (596639) or Liz come then, leave a message at the Centre (4-6 East St., tel 596639) or ring Liz on 867955.

English as SHE is overlooked.

English as SHE is overlooked.
or HE- the all embracing masculine.

If for no other good reason than some of us are unhappy with the way 'he' is used at present, the English Language needs overhauling.

The problem can be sidestepped if you know it's there.

EXAMPLE "All men are equal" becomes "Everyone is equal" or even "Each and every one of us is equal".

Of course rephrasing like that still leaves us open to the charge of Gross Generalization, but that too can be sidestepped. Don't be vague, be specific.

How about "You, me and the others are equally alive"?

It's OUR language, Not "The queans english", so use it, wisely, use it creatively and don't stab anyone in the back with it; we've got problems enough already.

THIS CLOYING CONSPIRACY OF SILENCE MUST CEASE.
Got a Message? say it, write it, DO IT.

S.U.N. SHINE

The Southern Unwaged Network met for the first time at RCU on Friday 4th April, with about 60 people from all over the region coming together for the day.

The conference, funded by the National Institute for Adult Continuing Education, consisted largely of four workshops. These were subjects all related to the central theme of how unwaged people can work effectively together to make demands successfully.

The schedule was a fairly hectic one and at best people could only attend two of the four workshops--which were:-
CAMPAIGNING( Sue Bradley of Labour Movement Services)
i.e. organising effectively. Topics covered included press & publicity and raising money.

MAGAZINES( Carol from Spare Rib and Nigel from City Limits)
The possibility of a high Quality Regional magazine produced by unemployed people.

NETWORKING( Keith Spurgin of the Cornwall and Devon Unemployed network)

TRAINING( Richard Cottle , Newbury Center)
The training needs of unwaged people.

A lot of information was passed on but a lot of people felt this was mainly a one way process( from 'expert' to 'unemployed' ), at a forced pace. Yes the 'speakers/facilitators' had a lot of knowledge to pass on, which undoubtedly would be of value to a campaigning group of unwaged people.

HOWEVER the strong feeling was that the people from the various areas didn't know each other at all and hadn't had the chance during the day to build up contact and confidence. Information channelling took priority over sharing experiences, it was said.

These feelings came out especially in the plenary session at the end of the day.

HOWEVER it was pointed out by the people who had set up the conference,--some unwaged, some working at Unemployment Centers-- that although the day may have been (partly)organised by waged people "for the Unemployed" the group came together and unemployed people are in a position to decide what happens from here on.

THE BEST thing to come from the day was the energy and anger of unemployed people, which means that the Network will continue, with local meetings for people to get to know each other and discuss issues, before a larger convention in Reading in mid June.

Spikey Dodds is an out of touch government's idea of a typical British sixteen year old,leaving school this year.But to Japan,and our other international competitors,he's a big joke.

That's because this year he'll be starting 2 years of being ripped off on the new YTS.

He'll begin by trying out several different skills before he chooses the one he'll train for through to the end of the second year.

By then his employers will have made even bigger profits than usual,and will still have no intention of giving him a proper job because they can get another sucker on YTS a lot cheaper.

Our competitors in the Far East have been ripping off their young people like this for years...so it must be alright.

It's made their rich even richer and it's helped them take trade away from us.But from now on they're going to have to watch out.

Spikey will be spending the next two years helping Britain's rich stay as rich as everywhere else's rich.Along with about 30,000 other ambitious school leavers who will have to learn to forget their ambitions and knuckle down to two years pure exploitation,probably followed by a lifetime on the dole.

"You can laugh at the government but they're not joking!"

WORKING FOR A PITTANCE.THE NEW 2 YEAR YTS.

NOW 16 AND 17 YEAR OLD SCHOOL LEAVERS CAN BE RIPPED OFF EVEN MORE.

MAY DAY DEMO

Rather than choosing the first convenient Saturday in May to celebrate the Mayday festival, unions are organising demonstrations for Thursday 1st May - when the Haymarket martyrs died.

South East Region T.U.C are in the middle of a campaign against the Fowler review of the Social Security, which if it becomes law will drastically reduce the resources of people claiming all sorts of benefits- anything from disabled peoples' benefits to single payments.

London Unions, helped by SERTUC are having monthly demos outside Alexander Flemings House (nr Elephant & Castle), the DSS HQ; there will be one there on Mayday 11am - 12am followed by a rally at 1pm at Clerkenwell Green.

It's worth noting that apart from everything else, the proposed changes make a racist DSS system even more racist. Ideas such as having to satisfy a 'presence test' (ie length of stay in this country) before you get benefit, or the DSS officials asking to see your passport as a matter of course, or only being allowed into the country if you promise not to 'have access to public funds' for a year are totally unacceptable.

SERTUC stars as co promoter later in the evening when it assists the joint Mayday committee with a do at Wapping. Anyone who wants to find out what's really going on in these parts at the moment is very welcome along: meet at the Tower Hill tube at 8pm (nr the x1 stop from Reading too !)

So if you fancy an ideologically sound day out... never mind you could go to the DSS &/or the Wapping demos anyway.

Is it perhaps needless to point out that if the Public Order Bill were law now, the police would have banned this type of legitimate protest straight off ? Maybe it has to be pointed out again and again !!

SAY NO TO KILLER BUS LANE

IF YOU SHOP, EAT, GO TO SCHOOL, THE PUB, DRIVE OR WALK ALONG THE ROAD IN THIS AREA

THIS AFFECTS YOU

The Council plans to put a contra-flow bus lane down London Road, outside shops, restaurants, a pub and a school. These lanes, when stuck along busy pavements, are proven killers. The Council is refusing to re-route the buses up Silver St. or put the bus lane on the other side of the London Road. WHY?

Bus lanes kill business too. Six months with a contra-flow, the shops will go bust and the bulldozers will move in. Is that what they want? WHY?

READING URBAN WILDLIFE GROUP HAVING A WILDER TIME

Have you ever thought that Reading could benefit from a bit more wildness, as you sit stagnating in front of the TV. What you're really longing to do is burst forth and run wild, no I don't mean down to the disco, but out into the wilderness. What, in Reading? Not much chance of that - you'll encounter more sprouting office blocks than sprouting trees. Wild areas and open spaces are rapidly being gobbled up in Reading as more developments take place and more houses are packed into increasingly small spaces. Fair enough we all need somewhere to live, but as our habits increasingly encroach on the countryside, where is the wildlife supposed to go? Unfortunately, choices are minimal; staying in the countryside and suffering whatever developments take place; dying out - pretty drastic; or it makes the most of a bad lot and moves into the pockets of habitable land in towns and cities. A pitiful dilemma, some of the more adaptable wildlife has already made the move. Many of you may have come face to face with a town fox as you wend your merry way back from pubs, those hotspots of human wildlife. Other noticeable examples include the increasing numbers of birds in our parks and gardens, or the more subtle colonisation of waste ground by plants quick to exploit any nook or cranny. The gradual colonisation of our urban landscapes by refugee wildlife prompted the establishment of many urban wildlife groups throughout the country. Recognition is being given to groups and communities which are giving conservation a real boost by establishing wildlife parks and gardens in the urban environment. Establishment of such areas not only provides refuges for wildlife, they also demonstrate the role that environmental improvements can play in urban regeneration.

A Reading Urban Wildlife Group is now firmly established in Reading, its aim is to encourage widespread support for creative conservation through a community based approach.

Already after the launch of the Reading fox survey, the group has received reports of over 150 sightings in the town (keep them coming in!) Reading Borough Council are making encouraging noises in support of the greening of Reading. We hope to establish Urban nature reserves; one site has already been acquired, known as Devil's dip, the old clay pit at the junction of Circuit Lane and Bath Road. If you would like to obtain more information about the work of the group, or would like to become involved, there will be a public meeting on Thursday 24 April - information in the events guide.

GREENHAM '86

Mass publicity of events at Greenham has died considerably over the last year. With the dwindling of coverage, numbers of women at Greenham have dwindled.

I for one have done nothing for some time. This weekend conscience pricked, I realised that a visit was long overdue. Having recieved the Greenham Chain Letter in January, describing the conditions and problems, I didn't expect it to be a picnic. However i wasn't prepared for the grim reality.

I visited only two gates, Blue and Green. Blue was a dismal sight, less than a handful of women are now living where there was once a thriving community of long term inhabitants. The benders and communal kitchen are now gone. The women that are still there seem disillusioned. The bailiffs come daily and move them off the sight. Bailiffs come daily and move them off the site. At night there is always the threat of further vigilante attacks. With the obvious lack of support disillusionment is not exactly surprising.

I left Blue and headed towards Green, the gate I'd camped at in the past.

I felt I'd walked onto the 1984 set after curfew. The base was silent, there was no sign of a soldier anywhere. The silence was more frightening than the previous high security, with large police and military presence. I felt as though I was being watched and yet i knew not where from or by whom.

The horror was intensified when I finally stumbled across a soldier. There he was, armed, calmly standing eyeing me through the fence. Although tempted to ask him what made him do it, I knew my nerve would fail me.

A man was walking his dog between Blue and Green gates, in the woods. He seemed oblivious to what was sited only yards away. I wondered whether he ever thought about the destructive force that is sited so obviously within a few miles of his home.

Green gate was less depressing than Blue; only in the sense that spirits seemed slightly higher. Green seems to have more short term inhabitants than any other gate, so in this probably accounts for the women being more cheerful. nobody stays long enough to get overly down.

MONEY

You've got it, we need it.

Seriously, though, the Rag is presently far too dependent on benefit gigs and paid ads, and we seem to go from cash crisis to cash crisis. Really the best way to support the Rag financially is to simply fill in a standing order form- even £1 per month or per 3 months would constitute some kind of regular income, which would really keep us afloat! It's not a lot of money, and a hundred standing order forms filled out and sent in would really sort us out financially. Come on everybody,

Those that remain at Greenham have the same determination as when the camp was first set up. There is a strong spirit between the women, a closeness that cannot be explained. (If you've lived in an all woman house you'll know what I mean) Along with the spirit comes a great strength. It's this strength and bonding that would be destroyed by bringing men into Greenham.

I can't pretend that I intend to throw in my job and spend months or years at Greenham, I cannot be that dedicated. I admire those who can. However I do intend to spend more time there, and support the women as best I can.

As I left I asked what wanted bringing next time I came. The reply wasn't food or clothing but '...more women..'

The women are tired and some need a break and to get away for a while; however they won't leave. Greenham cannot be left unattended. The camps cannot be struck for good.

We are now grown women, the mothers of society. We cannot leave it to other mothers to fight our battles for us. SOME OF US

Some of us cannot or are not prepared to move to Greenham permanently; But maybe we can spend a few days there in mm order to ease the pressure from the long term inhabitants and allow some of them the break they deserve.
